

European Data Storage Company, GRAU DATA AG, Partners With North American Storage Technology Reseller STORAGE CLARITY

Offering Simplified Deployment, Operation & Compliance of Disk-based Archive Storage Systems

Calgary, Alberta, Canada - January 19, 2010 - GRAU DATA AG, a global data storage technology company, announced today that it has signed North American Reseller, Storage Clarity, to resell its FILELOCK disk archiving software in North America.

As a reseller of FILELOCK, Storage Clarity will be able to offer customers simplified deployment and operation of disk based storage and take advantage of compliance enabling features such as WORM data authenticity, time based file retention and extended file security. FILELOCK brings powerful competitive advantages to resellers seeking to complement their NAS and SAN disk storage solutions with software which enables key archiving functionalities.

Graham Irving, President of Storage Clarity noted, "With FILELOCK from GRAU DATA AG, Storage Clarity will now be able to market a comprehensive total storage offering that includes archiving as a key area of growth to our partners and customers. Customers who need to look into effective and robust archive data storage with an additional requirement for legal compliance will now benefit from the solution. FILELOCK not only offers secure archiving on existing spinning disk solutions, it connects transparently to applications in our key vertical markets, including Government, Financial Services, Healthcare, and Legal"

"GRAU DATA AG is very pleased to be working with STORAGE CLARITY because of their wealth of experience with the needs of markets and customers in the archiving space," commented Herbert Grau CEO of GRAU DATA. "Their ability to offer best-of-breed disk storage solutions along with FILELOCK software to their customers and partners will provide excellent value to customers seeking a cost effective and open archiving solution."
